Friday 2nd December 2022

This week has been Humanities Week at Aragon! In Nursery, we took a special trip all the way to Antarctica - it was very cold! We read the story 'Lost and Found' by Oliver Jeffers to introduce our topic. Over the course of the week, we have been learning lots of facts about penguins, polar bears, the weather and more!

We have been busy making our own penguins, playing in the Antarctica ice (water tray) and making sure we have the correct clothing, hats and gloves, before we pick up any snowballs (our maths table).

On Thursday we had a VERY special delivery that was waiting for us when we got to Nursery! Jingle the Elf!! He has already been up to lots of mischief and left us a very lovely letter! Christmas has arrived at Nursery!! The children have loved decorating the Christmas trees, dancing to Christmas songs and most importantly practising for our big show next week!

Star of the Week:

Jellyfish (all day children): Millie for her fantastic Antarctica fact file!

Dolphins (morning children): Lily for her beautiful singing during our Nativity rehearsals.

Whales (afternoon children): Leo for fantastic enthusiasm and dancing when practising for our Nativity!

Well done to all our Stars of the Weeks for this week. We cannot wait to see what adventures you get up too!

Look at what we have got up too!

Our very special visitor!
